Welcome to our
88TH SEASON
... theatre to savour

FROM Keith Digby & Roger Carr
2016/17 SEASON PRODUCTION CO-CHAIRS

A good theatre feast, like a gourmet meal, is a fine blend of tastes.

We hope we have selected, with the help from a fun-loving, theatre-savvy committee, a season with a rich and varied menu. We offer you the fog-filled suspense of Victorian London, the laughter and skiffle music of 1960's seaside Brighton, and the power and spiritual corruption of the 17th century Salem witch trials. Dynamic contrasts permeate our choices: our season opener is at once an energetic musical and a dramatic look at a family in crisis; paradoxically, one of the funnier plays of the season deals with the quirky effects of aging on the mind; our final offering explores an area of mathematics that is incomprehensibly difficult for most, in a hit Broadway play that is wonderfully accessible and engaging. Bon Appétit!

ARTHUR MILLER

DAVID MACPHERSON

A searing portrait of a community engulfed by panic

BBC RADIO

In 17th Century Salem, Massachusetts, when fears, rumours and prejudice abound and a trial based on hearsay has power over life and death, truth gets lost in political ambition. A community turns on itself to track down innocent friends and neighbours accused of committing "secret, evil acts of witchcraft."

"If you're not having a good time at this show, you may be on the wrong meds"

DAVID ROONEY, HOLLYWOOD REPORTER & BILLBOARD

Set in 1960s Brighton, a skiffle band – think Lonnie Donegan – provides the music for a madcap, chaotic chase as the permanently ravenous Frances Hershall struggles to keep his two masters, a gangster and a woman disguised as man, separated and happy. One Man, Two Guvnors was nominated for seven Tony Awards & received rave reviews on both the West End and Broadway.

A HEARTWARMING STORY OF LIVING & LEAVING

TAKING LEAVE

A DRAMATIC COMEDY BY NAGLE JACKSON DIRECTED BY ANGELA HENRY

Engrossing, vivid... assured, and strong in theatrical values

VARIETY

In the middle of the night, Eliot Pryne, aging professor of Shakespeare, is packing what he thinks is a suitcase to leave what he thinks is a hotel, all the while struggling with his three daughters and the fading light of his mind. Heartwarming and compassionate, this rich dramatic comedy is about living and dying, and the strangely comedic value of both.

True to Stevenson, but hipper, sexier and more intense

SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE

A different evil stalks the fog-bound streets of Jack the Ripper's London. Dr. Henry Jekyll's experiments with powders and tinctures have created Mr. Hyde, his other self, a villainous creature set free to perform evil acts Jekyll is too civilized to comprehend. In this suspenseful new version of Robert Louis Stevenson's classic gothic tale, however, there's not one Hyde... but many. Be afraid.

TALKING BROADWAY

Can a young woman whose principal education in advanced mathematics comes from caring for her “bughouse crazy” father be the author of a brilliant mathematical proof? Delving into the caring, sacrificing and often hilarious nature of family relationships, this engaging drama explores the depths of love and the mystery of brilliance. Winner of three Tony Awards and the Pulitzer Prize in 2001.
